LEGISLATIVE.

—The House has passed a bill to exclude from jury service all persons under indictment.

—The Senate passed a bill appropriating $12,600 for the benefit of the Geological Survey and Bureau of Immigration.

—The House has passed a bill to change the time of the meeting of the Legislature hereafter to the 30th of December.

—Judge Hanford is fixing up a bill to tax every female dog of low degree, over six months old, the sum of $10, and we hope he will have it passed.

—Senator Blair presented a bill for the benefit of the National Bank of this place. This is to legalize an act of the Legislature which the Bank advanced money.

—The bill increasing the fees of the Attorney General, giving him a taxed fee of $20 in every appeal to the Court of Appeals where the Commonwealth is a party, was passed.

—A bill has passed the House to allow County Courts to incorporate Lodges, Societies and Associations (except banks and other mutual benefit associations) when the object is lawful.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—The motion for a new trial for G. H. H. will be argued before Judge Cox to-day.

—Thirty shares of Second National Bank stock of Richmond, Ky., sold at $146 to $150 05.

—It is stated by Dr. Billings, (U. S. A.) that 100,000 people die annually in the United States from preventable diseases and avoidable accidents.

—Counting everything, Guiteau has to pay the Government $250,000, and of standard fineness in sums of $3 and $5, and is asking for contributions to pay the hand of Justice from reaching him.

—Miss Mildred McCann, sister of Gen. P. McCann, of Lexington, was burned to death Monday.

—Richard Brinsley Knowles, only surviving son of the dramatist, James Sheridan Knowles, is dead.

—Eugene W. Lee, of Campbellsville, is spoken of as the Democratic candidate for County Judge Taylor.

—There is a decided panic in the money markets of London and Paris, and a large number of failures is reported.

—United States Senator Beck has introduced a bill in Congress to appropriate $250,000 for a Government building at Lexington.

—The Chicago grand jury is investigating the history of the wheat corner last August, with a view to learning whether the parties promoting it can be prosecuted under the criminal laws.

—Mrs. Georgia Brooks, on a suit for $100,000 damages for the killing of her son, Charles Brooks, at Lebanon, was given a verdict of $10,000 against the Louisville and Nashville R. R. by a Marion county jury.

—Pro tem. Judges of the Kentucky Courts drew $10,098 56 out of the State Treasury during 1881. That is to say, the regular officers were paid that much for work they did not do.

—[Covington (Ky.) Commonwealth.]—A murder similar to the Garrard county horror, has just occurred at St. Louis. The wife of Gen. Dorris was strangled to death by her grand son, Russell Brown, who took the rings and other jewelry from her person and pawned them. He is now in jail.

—St. Petersburg, January 31.—While a fleet of fishing vessels were engaged at the mouth of the Volga, near Astrakhan, a hurricane, which came up very suddenly, broke the ice and destroyed all the boats. Six hundred fishermen perished in the icy waters.

—To facilitate the withdrawal of mutilated coin from circulation, Superintendent of Mints are authorized to purchase United States silver coin of standard fineness in sums of $3 and $5, and is asking for contributions to pay the hand of Justice from reaching him.

—The National Board of Health has formulated a statement showing the number of deaths from smallpox which occurred in sixty six cities in the Union during the year 1881.

—Philadelphia stands No. 1, there having been 1,319 fatal cases there during the year. Chicago comes second, with 822 deaths. New York follows with the next highest number, 453; and Pittsburgh, with 444. Jersey City records 202 deaths, and Wilmington, shows 118. Allegheny, Penn., suffered to the extent of 108. Richmond had 144 fatal cases; Brownsville, Texas, 65; Cincinnati, 53; San Francisco, 47; Louisville, 18; Plainfield, N. J., 241; and Brooklyn, 34. Washington and the District of Columbia had but two deaths.

—Not long ago Mr. Beecher's door bell was rung by a bright faced boy, who seemed to be in breathless haste as he asked to see the clergyman. He was admitted, and at once exclaimed that two gentlemen down the street were holding a debate over the proper spelling of a word, and had sent him week. One for Webster's unabridged to settle the question. —The sale of the personal effects of Jas. Wilmont, the Garrard county suicide and murderer, took place yesterday. Our informant who left after two or three hours, says that household furniture sold very high, in many cases more than the same articles were worth new. Pork sold at 12 1/2 cents, and Sorghum at 55 cents per gallon. There was a large number of stock to be sold.

—George R. Higgins sold his farm of 418 acres North of Danville, including two horses, farming implements, etc., to W. B. Cecil, for $25,000.... D. Ingram, sold his farm of 140 acres, four miles from Danville, on the Harrodsburg pike, to J. E. Lee, at $100 per acre.... Col. Jno. Cowan has sold his Swiss Cottage residence and grounds, to Mrs. Anna Armstrong, for $6,350.... J. M. McFerran sold 21 head of 2-year-old mules to J. W. Burgess, of Lexington, for $125 per head.... Wakefield & Farris, sold to same 18 head same age, at $120.... Twemey & Farris sold 108 head of mules to close their partnership at $125 per head, cash, to Wakefield & Farris. This last firm sold them to other parties as follows: One pair to P. T. Gentry, at $320; to Baldwin, of Mayfield, 63 head at $135 each; to Burgess, of Lexington 25 head at $125; to a North Carolina trader 18 head at $120 each. The prices obtained for this stock is no criterion of the real value of yearlings generally, because, as stated above, the State has never produced a bunch to equal them. [Danville Advocate.]

—Hanging Turk has been on a high ever since Christmas.

—The merry sleigh bells began to jingle on Tuesday, and the music has become somewhat monotonous.

—A little child of Alex. Prather, of Coler, fell in the fire last Saturday and burned its face into a solid blister. It has been insensible ever since and is not expected to live.

—Miss Lydia Lewis' school closed last Friday, and she will take charge of a school at McKinney Station. She has been a faithful teacher and her patrons here don't like to give her up.

—Tim Engleman's imported dog made another raid on his herd of fine sheep and killed two more of them. Tim has at last come to the conclusion that sheep are of more value than dogs, and passed the death sentence on him.

—Billy Baughman says that he had a hog-killing time with the Missouri girls, but came back with whole and fancy free. Our friend, J. B., is now a full fledged doctor, and has worked himself into a paying practice. Miss Susie Yeager spent several days last week with the family of Mr. S. H. Yeager.

—John Buford, a gentleman of color, has invented a musical instrument which he calls the devil's triangle, and which gets away with anything we have seen. It is in the shape of an Indian bow, with a wire string. He puts one end of the bow, or triangle as he calls it, in his mouth and hits on the string with a goose quill, and can play any tune. It sounds something like a Jew's harp, but much louder.

How it Feels to Die.

A man in Hagerstown, Md., who was supposed to have died, but subsequently came to life, said in stating his experience: "When I died I first felt a sinking, going sensation. I knew everything going on in the room, but I could not speak or move my lips. The next thing I remember was in a darkness, seemingly in a tunnel, through which I was being pushed. There seemed to be two forms, one on each side, pushing me along through the tunnel, I appeared to move as if I was floating, touching nothing above or below. At last it appeared to get lighter, as though we were nearing the end of the passage. It grew brighter, every moment, and then I seemed to observe two shining, beautiful forms on each side of me. I had a feeling of perfect peace and well being, and heard, as though it were a part of the space I floated in, the most soothing and delightful music."

The Forty-eighth Regiment was disbanded at Oswego, N. Y., one day spelling of a word, and had sent him week. One for Webster's unabridged to settle the question. The quarto was obligingly form, three in fatigue citizens' dress, handed to the messenger, who hurried and a super uniformed Lieutenant, off with it. Dr. Samuel P. Craig

A meeting of the Physicians of Stanford, on Monday, Jan. 31st, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, That we deeply grieve at the death of our fellow, Dr. Samuel P. Craig, and that while we deplore the loss of his knowledge and skill in public esteem, we likewise painfully regret his death as that of a kind-hearted, associate, a discreet and valuable neighbor, and an honored gentleman. Resolved, That we sympathize with his loved relatives; that we tender to them to all who have been intimately associated with him, our personal sympathies.
